

SHORT COURSE:

CONFIDENT AND PERSUASIVE PRESENTATIONS

Learn to inform, persuade, and inspire by overcoming nerves and developing your unique presenting style.

This course focuses on building confidence and effectiveness in public speaking, enabling you to engage audiences with clarity and impact.

What is covered in this course?

- What makes a good presentation
- Presenting to large and small groups
- Knowing your audience
- Practice using effective presentation tools
- Preparation and delivery of a presentation

Should I attend?

This course is suitable for a broad range of people who are looking to develop their confidence in delivering presentations.

How will I benefit?

You will gain:

- an understanding of how to develop your natural speaking style
- practical strategies to overcome fear, reduce self-consciousness, and control nervous reactions

- a range of tools and methods for creating and delivering content naturally, credibly and effectively that can be deployed right away in your work
- approaches for projecting authority and confidence, even if nervous
- an appreciation for public speaking – the exhilaration, confidence-giving, and enjoyment of creating a connection with your audience.

How will my organisation benefit?

Your organisation will gain:

- an individual with improved confidence and capability in delivering work-related presentations that genuinely inform, motivate, and influence
- an individual with improved, 'audience focused', interactions with clients, customers, stakeholders and colleagues
- increased engagement and understanding of key organisational messages presented.

Certification

- You will receive an Adelaide University Certificate of Completion.
- This Learning Futures course may contribute to earning Continuing Professional Development (CPD) points.
